Director's Report

Our May meeting will take place outdoors at 6 PM at the pavilion in Lakeside Park.

The Re-Opening Committee is recommending that we relax the Proactive Infection Plan by removing the promise to close the library for the day automatically when certain events occur. A copy of the plan with the proposed revisions will be attached to the email with this report.

The Mid-Hudson Library System is offering its trustee education series entirely online this year. Sessions are an hour and a half, and are scheduled for May and June. You can see the dates and sign up to participate on the MHLS calendar.

The libraries of Dutchess County are considering incorporating as a 501c3 non-profit organization. The vote will take place on May 7th, and I can provide an update at the board meeting.

The libraries of Dutchess County received a $50,000 collective grant from Dutchess County to purchase additional children's eBooks. Both Neena and I have volunteered to do some of the purchasing.

No later than next month's board meeting, we will need to decide whether to apply for the state construction grant program. We applied in 2018 for the creation of the Teenspace and in 2020 for annex improvements. Typically the grant covers about 20% of the cost of a project, and the funds must be spent within three years on a project whose costs are itemized in the grant proposal.

I mailed letters to Senator Harckham and Assemblyman Lalor requesting Bullet Aid to replace our computers. Additionally, I invited to the Centennial jazz concert all our elected officials at the Village, Town, County, State, and Federal level.

Our subscription to myLibro is up for renewal. I am planning on subscribing for another year as long as we have the ability to opt out of the forthcoming self-checkout feature.

The Mid-Hudson Library System will be sponsoring an Ask-A-Lawyer event pertaining to Covid-19 for library directors. If you have any legal questions that you think might not naturally get covered at that event, please let me know so that I can submit them in advance.

The annual report was sent to the print shop last week. It should hit mailboxes no later than May 16th, but you will likely all know it has arrived before I do.

As advertised in the annual report, we have begun soliciting responses to our community survey. Patrons can go to pawlinglibrary.org/survey or fill out a paper survey when they are in the library.

I have submitted our employee self-quarantine information to G&G Payroll in order for them to claim the $1,609 payroll tax reimbursement we are due under the Families First Coronavirus Response Act.

Highlight of the month: Earth Day Events

Naturalist & Preserve Steward John Foley of the Great Hollow Nature Preserve & Ecological Research Center was our guest presenter for a special Earth Day event entitled Owls of the Night on the evening of April 22. "There's something inquisitive about them," said John Foley. "To see one, it's an experience like no other." Mr. Foley focused on 8 species of owls native to New York State and New England. The program was filled with information about these fascinating birds, the only raptor that is active in the evening. His PowerPoint presentation contained video clips, and recordings of owl calls. At the end of his presentation Mr. Foley accepted questions from the audience. Most of the participants had heard, but never seen, an owl. "We definitely heard a great horned owl in our backyard," said one person who recognized the owl's call from one of the recordings. For those who want to see an owl in person, Great Hollow has two barred owls, two screech owls, along with two red-tailed hawks. "Even though screech owls are common, you hardly ever see them," said Mr. Foley. "This is a great chance for you to get an in-depth look at them." Great Hollow Nature Preserve & Ecological Research Center is located in New Fairfield, Connecticut, only minutes away from the Pawling Library. The nature preserve is open from dawn to dusk, with acres of trails.

In addition to this program, the Pawling Library collaborated with photographer Lonna Kelly for another Earth Day program called Synergy: Our Earth Art Project. 21 people, mostly local artists, and artists from Italy, Finland and Germany, contributed artwork that they felt expressed the theme of this art project: Our Earth. A total of 26 images can be viewed on the Pawling Library's Online Synergy Art Gallery and Lonna Kelly's website. Two posters are also on display within the library, featuring each work of art and the names of the artists.

Lonna Kelly has donated her time and talent to bring us Altered Art: Images of Pawling. This art project is part of a year of celebrations to honor the Pawling Library's one-hundredth anniversary. Ms. Kelly has photographed four locations in Pawling that have been reproduced onto postcards. Participants in this mail art project will modify and mail the postcards to the library. Artwork will be scanned and posted on the websites of the Pawling Library & Lonna Kelly Studio. Full details of this centennial program can be found on the main page of the Pawling Library's website.

Phil Prout, Teen Program Coordinator

April marked the start of the spring program session. First-time registrations are up. I credit this to the introduction of programs targeted at tween patrons aging into teen program eligibility like D&D Jr. League. Additionally, teens who had previously only signed up for a single weekly or one-time program chose to register for multiple programs this April.

April teen programs also featured our Earth Week programs: take-home seed pod kits and the garden volunteer program. Volunteers have been hard at work; our teen garden has been repaired and is 100% planted. We hosted a guest speaker Marlow Baines, an 18-year-old international activist, to speak to teens about environmental activism on Earth Day. Teens in attendance to this program were respectful and thoughtful in their questions and discussion during the program.

The biography section in the YA area was moved. The biographies were previously in a hard-to-find location under the high table in the Teenspace. I decided with the director to move the biographies to a much more visible location onto shelves in the southwest corner of the teen space. The shelf space was previously the magazine section. I removed the magazines from the Teenspace completely.

Neena McBaer, Children's Program Coordinator

Programming breakdown by type: Spring programs launched April 12. Socially distant outdoor programming begins in May.

- All: 10 kit programs with 135 attendees, 11 live programs with 74 attendees
- Parent and Caregiver Early Literacy: 3 kits with 36 attendees, 2 live with 4 attendees
- Early Literacy: 3 kits with 28 attendees, 4 live with 43 attendees
- School Age Programming: 4 kits with 71 attendees, 5 live with 27 attendees

Earth Day: As part of our partnership with other Dutchess area libraries, we hosted a special STEAM kit program that provided families with a take-home experiment educating around oil spills. Several non-resident families participated, as did many locals. See below for a photo of two of our regular patrons completing their experiment at home!

Carla and Summer: I am excited to once again be working with Carla Biggs on our summer programming. We've planned a flexible schedule that includes options for a variety of pandemic possibilities. I am hopeful that outdoor programming will resume for school age children this summer, if infection rates and vaccination rates allow. We've also made the difficult decision not to hire teen interns for the summer of 2021. Because we will be running smaller class sizes due to the pandemic and we are already very limited in our tight quarters, we've decided to hold off on hiring teens until next year. We will be recruiting volunteers for our reading buddy program, as well as for help prepping craft materials.

Kindergarten Readiness: Check out the photo from a patron of her young son completing the challenge in one of our Spring activity kits! These caterpillar and owl activities are helping participants develop literacy and fine motor skills (See below).

Tom Clemmons, Circulation Manager / Homebound Delivery Services Coordinator

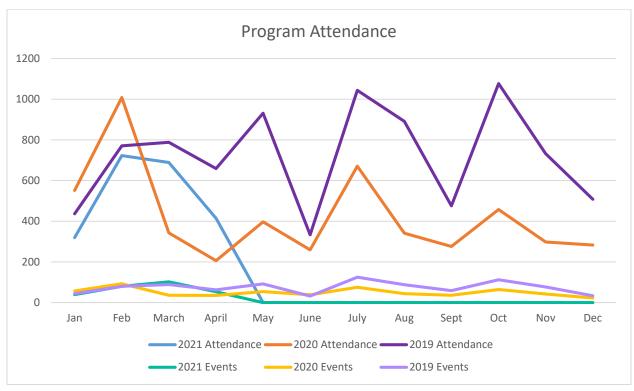

There are currently 10 active Homebound Services patrons. In April, I selected materials (books or audio books) according to reading preferences and made 6 Homebound Service delivery/pickups – 1 trip to the Village of Pawling, 2 trips to The Hamlet, 1 trip to King's Apartments, and 2 trips for residents at The Grand, including one donation from the PFL book sorters of 2 bags of large-print books for The Grand's Book Cart.

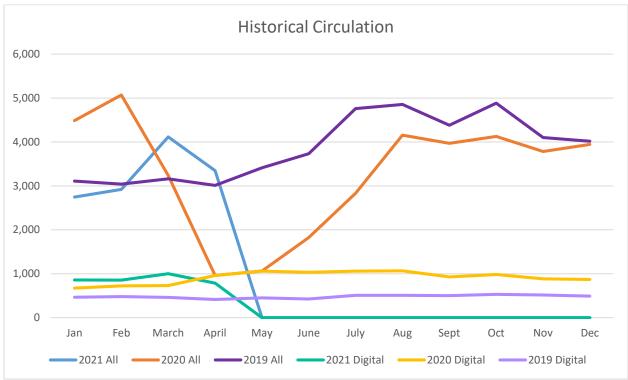

Buildings and Grounds

One of the circuits in the annex is not working. I have contacted Frank's Electrical.

Proactive Infection Plan

Screening

The Library will screen all employees and essential visitors as described below. The Library will also screen patrons on a strictly voluntary basis.

The Library will remotely screen via electronic form all employees and essential visitors scheduled to work in any Library building before each shift about any COVID-19 symptoms identified by public health officials in accordance with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission's (EEOC) Pandemic Preparedness in the Workplace and the Americans with Disabilities Act including confidentiality of medical information. The Library will delete any personal health data two weeks after its date of submission.

Screening will consist of the following questions:

- 1. Have you experienced symptoms of COVID-19 including fever, cough, shortness of breath, or at least two of the following symptoms: fever, chills, repeated shaking with chills, muscle pain, headache, sore throat, or new loss of taste or smell in the past 14 days?
- 2. Have you tested positive for COVID-19 in the past 14 days?
- 3. Are you currently subject to an individual quarantine per New York State guidelines? (https://coronavirus.health.ny.gov/travel-large-gatherings-and-guarantines)
- 4. Do you attest that you will wear a clean, appropriate face covering while working, in accordance with Library policy?

Library staff or screened visitors should immediately notify the Library Director or designee if the answers to these questions change later, regardless of whether the change occurs during or outside work hours.

The Library Director or designee will review all responses collected by the screening process on a daily basis and maintain a record of this review.

The Library will maintain a log of all Library staff and essential visitors in the facility including contact information. This information will be used to trace and notify staff and visitors in the event an employee is diagnosed with COVID-19.

Visitors that Test Positive for COVID-19

The Library will observe directions from local health officials for best practice in staff and public health safety in the event that a Library visitor reports developing symptoms related to COVID-19 or testing positive for COVID-19 when they have recently visited the Library.

If an individual who has visited the Library reports testing positive for COVID-19, the Library will notify local health officials.

The Library will work with local health officials to notify staff and visitors that may have been in contact with the infected visitor, while maintaining the right to the privacy of their health information of the visitor, and the confidentiality of library records.

Employees that Test Positive for COVID-19 or Report COVID-19 Symptoms

The Library will observe directions from local health officials for best practice in staff and public health safety in the event that a staff member or Library visitor reports developing symptoms related to COVID-19 or testing positive for COVID-19.

Library staff that develop symptoms related to COVID-19 or test positive for COVID-19 will be directed to not come into the Library (or to leave the Library if they are already at work), and contact a medical professional or the local health department immediately. The Library will provide the employee with the healthcare and testing information available on the Dutchess County website: https://www.dutchessny.gov/Departments/DBCH/dbch.htm

The Library Director or designee will immediately notify state and local health departments and cooperate with contact tracing efforts, including notification of potential contacts, such as workers or visitors who had close contact with the individual, while maintaining confidentiality required by state and federal law and regulations.

If an employee tests positive for COVID-19 or shows symptoms of COVID-19 he or she may only return to work with the written permission of a doctor. If an employee has had close contact with a person with COVID-19, he or she may return to work after completing a 10 day self-quarantine.

Employees who have been alerted that they came in close or proximate contact with a person with COVID-19 via tracing, tracking, or other mechanism are required to report this information to the Library Director.

Closure and Disinfection Plan

The Library Director or designee may decide to close any or all portions of the Library for disinfection whenever a significant event occurs which poses an immediate hazard to building occupants. Any affected areas will be cleaned and disinfected in accordance with CDC cleaning and disinfection recommendations before being reopened for use.

Personal Protective Equipment

The requirements for personal protective equipment at each stage of re-opening are listed in the Library's Re-Opening Proctocols. A patron may remove his or her face covering temporarily to consume a beverage while he or she is at least six feet distant from the nearest person unless doing so would violate any library policy. Employees may remove their face coverings temporarily to consume food or beverage, use the library telephone system, or to work in an unshared space, provided that they observe social distancing protocols whenever they are without a face covering.
